

Objective-C Developer

pprupt (www.apprupt.com) is the first affiliate network for mobile applications. Our customers and partners include Axel Springer Verlag, Gruner & Jahr or RTL. For our offices in Hamburg, we are seeking a

Objective-C Developer

As a member of our team you will be working on demanding web and mobile projects. We offer a professional programming environment and exciting projects in a field of business with rapid growth.

Your tasks

- Development of native apps
- Integration of web services
- Development of user interfaces
- Database design (SQLite)
- Further development of the apprupt product line as part of the development team

Your profile

- Strong experience with the current iPhone SDK
- Comfortable with Objective-C, Cocoa/Cocoa-Touch, SQLite und HTTP/JSON
- Experience with data bases and web development preferred
- BS or MS in Computer Science or related field preferred
- Knowledge of camera-APIs, geocoding, mapping and OpenGL are a plus
- Genuine interest in the subjects of Internet, mobile web and iPhone
- Experience with the iPad SDK is a plus
- Advanced analytical capabilities

What we can offer you

- Room for your own ideas, new approaches and a young, competent and highly motivated team
- Quick decision making processes
- A challenging position with responsibilities and scope to develop your own hard and soft skills

If you are interested in this position, we look forward to receiving your detailed application by email to jobs@apprupt.com. Your personal contact is Dennis Unruh.